Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 4. Claims 1-11, 13-18, 21-61, 63-69, 71-91, 94-102 and 106-112 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Giansante et al (US 6,275,814)

Re claims 1, 21,24, 41, 51, 71,74, 87-91, 95, 98, 99, 106-112, Giansante discloses an investment Guidance system, a method for rating assets (see Giansante, Abstract, col. 2, ll. 29-61),

Determining a rating for each asset (portfolio) based on the relative weights assigned to said two or more criteria (see col. 2, ll. 36-39; and col. 6, ll. 36-41),

Art Unit: 3624

10)

Re claims 2, 22, 52, 72, ranking plurality of said assets based on rating (see col. 2, 11. 36-39; col. 5, 11. 14-19 and col. 6, 11. 36-41),

Re claim 25, wherein one or more of the input mechanisms are graphical input devices (see Browser, col. 5, ll. 48+),

Re claims 3, 100, providing a list of ranked assets (see figs. 4, 5, col. 4, ll. 27+),

Re claims 4, wherein said criteria are measured by one or more statistical parameters (see col. 2, ll. 31-34),

Re claims 18, 68, further comprising providing an input mechanism for receiving the relative weight of importance for said asset criteria (see col. 2, 11. 36-39; col. 6, 11. 36-41)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 6. Claims 12, 19, 20, 62, 70, 92, 93 and 103-105 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Giansante et al (US 6,275,814)

Giansante fails to disclose, as in claim 12, 62, wherein one of said criteria is tax efficiency. Since the amount of tax impact upon a portfolio may have a significant impact upon total returns, it would have been obvious for an artisan of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide tax efficiency as a criteria in consideration of portfolios that would lie within an efficient "zone" to create weighted a set of weighted average portfolios. Thus such a modification would have been an obvious expedient well within the ordinary skill of the art.

Application/Control Number: 09/766,277 Page 6

Art Unit: 3624 ·

Giansante fails to disclose, as in claims 19, 20, 69, 70, wherein one or more of the input mechanisms are slider bars or text boxes. Giansante does disclose a browser application which may include the aforementioned features (see col. 5, ll. 48+). It would have been obvious for an artisan of ordinary skill in the art to employ the notoriously old and well known slider bars and text boxes within a browser application because such features would allow the user to interact with data by scrolling information within the browser window and or input data to the webpage via a browser. Thus an artisan would find such features convenient by allowing greater interactivity between the user and the invention.

Giansante, as in claims 92, 93, and 103-105 fails to disclose having an executable software code, per se, however, it would have been obvious for an artisan of ordinary skill in the art to recognize the use of Excel spreadsheet (see col. 4, ll. 51-56), as software that can be made executable by the implementation of the invention's methodology in the software, and as contemplated by Giansante. Thus such a modification would be considered obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.
